

STAAR Group Review

We will break into groups and answer review questions collaboratively. When you are assigned your group, collectively decide who will be responsible for each job.

1 person in each group will be assigned the job of finding a journal page number that aids in answering the review question. We will call this job the RESEARCHER.

1 person in each group will draw a graphic that is related to the topic in the review question. We will call this job the ARTIST.

1 person in each group will record the group's answers and page number references on a piece of paper. All members of the group should be listed on the paper along with their "numbers" and job assignments. We will call this job the SCRIBE.

1 person in each group will report the results to the class. We will call this job the REPORTER.

The remaining members of the group will assist in answering the question. We will call this job ASSISTANT.

I will give your group the number of a question. Your group will have 30 seconds to complete your tasks successfully. We will score your results.
